Note: Electronically submitted entries will not be accepted.

Good Luck!

The Fine Print:

Judges will first rough-cut and review photos for finalists & submissions will be evaluated on a point system based on composition, light, color, potential to reproduce, and overall appeal. Ten extra 'free' points will be added to our first cut based on rarity of species or taxonomic desirability of use for our programs. Dependent on the number and quality of submissions, we may assign categories and expand the number of prizes.
